

SUMMER DULLNESS STRIKES SOCIETY; MANY EL PASOANS SPEND JULY 4 AWAY

A WEEK of exceptional quietness, even for the dullness of the summer season, confronts El Pasoans today. The warm weather is making people more disinclined to exert themselves to anything as strenuous as a formal social affair, and the informal entertaining of the social activity at present is rather impromptu, and without much planning beforehand, so that the social calendar for next week is conspicuous for the scarcity of social affairs. For the Fourth of July there was a great migration of El Pasoans to out of town places, both up and down the valley and to the mountains, and that popular resort, Cloudcroft. Most of these parties will not return until the middle of the week. The recent rains have put an obstacle on one of town automobile rides and the roads are put in better shape, as society will be languidly bored until something unexpected occurs to break the monotony.

Of the affairs known for next week are the usual midweek and week end dances at the Country Club, the dance at Hotel Paso del Norte, the meeting of the El Paso Twelve card club with Mrs. A. W. Young and the meeting of the A. L. A. club with Mrs. C. W. Bretz.

A Farewell Word to Tourists.

Right now, at the height of the going-away-from-El-Paso season, we want to remind tourists that we can be of real service to them. It makes no difference whether your trip is to be an extended one or only to El Paso's own summer resort—Cloudcroft. In tourist articles, we have everything of known merit—hot water vacuum bottles, safety razors and fountain pens are among the many other items we could enumerate. In case you forget your own necessities before going to the Union Depot, the Depot Pharmacy, which is one of our three stores, will supply you.

Advice To The Lovelorn

By Beatrice Fairfax.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: I am a girl of 17 and every morning I meet a young man about 21 who is very handsome. He has been saying good morning to me, but I have not paid the least attention to him. I have been told that if this man cares to meet you he will make all the greater effort to be properly introduced when your dignity has made him add respect to his admiration.

THE ENGAGEMENT RING.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: I am keeping company with a very nice young man. He asked me to marry him and I am about to accept, but the question is, does not think it necessary to have an engagement ring, and that is puzzling me, as all my girl friends received a diamond ring when they came engaged. Important To Chose Right Color To Enhance Beauty

OUR grandmothers had certain rules in dress that must have mitigated strongly against their appearance, especially as their color and in regard to wearing apparel was limited. In those days dark people were supposed to wear red, blondes and brunettes wore blue or green to offset this monotony, thus forming what we would term as agreeable contrast. There are some cases, however, where such a type appears well in the soft pastel shades of blue, mauve and rose, the soft colors harmonizing with the delicacy of the face. This apparent contradiction is but an illustration of the fact that we cannot lay down absolute rules for different types.

Colors for Blondes. Most blondes have light blue eyes. This type often wear pale blue, but if the blue is at all deep, it will kill the color in the eyes and make them appear green or gray. A fair complexioned woman who is unable to consider the feelings of the man you love.

DON'T MARRY HIM.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: I am a girl of 18 and am in love with a boy one year older than I am. I have been keeping company with this fellow over two years, but never gave thought to getting married. He now asks me to get married August 1. I realize that I do not think he can make a living for me, as he earns only $10 a week, but he says that I can work and help him. I do not feel as if I want to work for years to come. M. P. A. Your sweetheart is decidedly too young for marriage, and $10 a week is not enough on which to start married life. If you intend to have any children you ought to consider them and not to plunge into a marriage the responsibilities of which you are unable to meet.

TALK TO YOUR FATHER.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: I am an only daughter of 18. My father is very strict with me. I can hardly get out of his sight without his accusing me of meeting young men. I like a young man of 22 years of age. He likes me too, and wants to keep company with me. Although I haven't mentioned the subject to my father, I know he would not consent. What would you do? Doris M. Talk this matter over very seriously.

with your father. Remind him that it is natural for you to want the companionship of boys as well as girls, but that you want him to meet and approve of all your friends and to realize that you will not make any friends who are not worthy of coming into your own home. Bring all your best to bear on the matter and see if you cannot persuade your father to remember his own youthful interest in nice girls as well as boys.

WRITE TO HIM.
DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: About a year ago I met a young man in whom I was very much interested. He corresponded until a few months ago. He wrote to me that he would like to call on a certain day. I answered that I would be at home waiting for him. The appointed day came, and in his stead I received a letter from him that he could not come that evening, but would call some time. He also asked me to answer him. I felt hurt and did not answer his letter, and ever since then I have not seen or heard from him. Now I want to renew our acquaintance.

Josephine F. R.
Write and tell him that you were so foolishly hurt at his changing his engagement that you could not bring yourself to answer his letter, but that you have come to be heartily ashamed of yourself for your attitude, and hope he will be generous in extending you. Then name an evening when you will be glad to see him.
